ATTENDANCE GROWS DAILY

Judges Choose Winners in Corn Contest—Local Fanciers Made Good Showing in Classes Judged Yesterday.

Except for the hundred special prizes, offered by the merchants and businessmen of this city and the association, which have not yet been distributed, all the premiums have been awarded at the poultry show and the winners in the different classes have the opportunity of obtaining the appearance of the brightly colored ribbons which have been tucked on the coupes. There has been but little delay in awarding the merit ribbons. As soon as Judge D. T. Helmlich had finished securing all the entries in each class, the show clerk secured the cards and selected the winners. Many of the special prizes could not be given until the complete records had been secured but the show secretary, J. D. King, is working on this today and it is expected that these prizes will be awarded tomorrow.

Among the breeds that were judged, but a detailed list of which is appended, it can be seen that Janesville fanciers have made a strong and successful fight for first honors. They have made a great showing with different Polish and Hamburgs, while in the Langshan class J. H. McVicar made almost a clean sweep. The season exhibited this year far exceed those shown last year, both in number and class. In addition to the pigeons there are several other exhibits that excite much interest, including an incubator with chicks hatching every day, two venomous looking rattlesnakes and a kennel of pretty Dalmatian pups.

BODIES PLACED IN VAULT UNTIL SPRING

Blocked Condition of Roads Makes Interment in Oak Hill Cemetery Impossible.

Snow drifts five or six feet in depth have blocked the roads in Oak Hill cemetery and have made it practically impossible to be "broken out" and bodies which are to be buried there are being placed in the vault. In April, when the snow is gone and there is less difficulty in digging the graves, the remains will then be placed in the ground.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Edgar S. Cooke of Chicago, who was accused of blackmail by Charles L. Warriner, the defaulting treasurer of the Big Four railroad, was arrested on a charge of having received stolen money. The warrant was sworn out by Prosecuting Attorney Hunt and the allegation contained in it was given by Warriner, who states that on October 1 he gave Cooke $200.

Woman and Girl Killed.

Lyons, Kan., Jan. 7.—Mrs. Walter Edlin and her little daughter were burned to death and her baby was perhaps fatally burned in a fire that destroyed the Edlin home. The blaze was caused by a gas explosion.

TAFT IS ANGRY AND MAY LET PINCHOT OUT

President Calls Cabinet Meeting to Take Action on Forester's Letter.

Washington, Jan. 7.—A sensational crisis in the Taft-Pinchot controversy was precipitated when a defiant letter from Chief Forester Pinchot was read in the senate at the instance of Senator Dooliver. In this letter Mr. Pinchot admits that his assistants aided Glavis in attacking Secretary Hallinger, praises them as patriots who were trying to prevent frauds, champions Glavis as a vigorous defender of the people's interests, virtually reproaches the president himself for having dismissed Glavis, and in effect dares the president to dismiss himself.

What "King's English" Means.

"Queen's English" and "King's English" are both terms that have been in common use for years to designate grammatical English. In Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" we read: "Here will be an old abusing of God's patience and the king's English." Such phrases as "murdering the queen's English" and "clipping the queen's English" arose from a book by Dean Alford on the subject of accurate speech.

Old and New Drama.

Elizabethan dramatists and Shakespeare, instead of looking out for the meanest samples of humanity for their principal characters, selected or imagined the strongest. Instead of depressing humanity by showing it what a pitiful thing it is, they tried to inspire and encourage it by showing what a fine and grand thing it might be. The dramatists of the time were men of life, energy and action.

Ring Information.

"Rings should be chosen with discretion," says a woman who has made a study of the subject. "Few women, for instance, can wear a large solitaire diamond ring, which requires as a background the whitest of dimpled hands. The antique, old Venetian and marquise rings look best on thin hands with bony fingers, the sunken places below the enlarged knuckles requiring to be filled out with rings of a 'dow type.'"

The latter on the other hand, can hand Welsh some stiff one that ought to put his opponent away. The bout will attract world-wide attention.

PARTY HARMONY

That party harmony is most desirable is not a debatable question. That it is not always possible is also apparent, as is evidenced by conditions now prevailing in Washington.

The little band of insurgent republicans in both the senate and house have so persistently annoyed the president and his administration that long forbearance has ceased to be a virtue, and an open rupture is likely to result.

The malcontents claim that they are ignored on committees, and not recognized or consulted on patronage, and so decide that the time is ripe for a revolt, and the organization of a new party. In this they are encouraged by the demagogues who have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Just what may be the result depends on the backing of the home constituency. The state of Iowa, always erratic but held in check by conservative leaders for many years, comes to the front under the management of Governor Cummins, who poses as a latter-day reformer, and Wisconsin is expected to play a close second.

The cause of the disturbance and the threatened rupture is simply a question of disloyalty on the part of the disgruntled element. Seven senators and twenty-five members of the house voted against the administration and with the democrats, on all important questions, during the special session.

When they went home they kept up the battle, and are now back in Washington to continue the fight. That they should receive scant courtesy would naturally be expected, and they have no occasion for complaint. President Taft is not vindictive. His attitude is clearly defined by the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune in the following dispatch:

"He feels he was elected by the people to carry out certain well defined policies. One of those was the tariff revision. During the struggle in connection with the Aldrich law he received the support of the organizations in both houses and obtained from them concessions which he deemed important, and which led him finally to approve the bill.

"The insurgency which had existed against the house organization, and, to a less extent against the senate organization, gave evidence of directing itself against the administration. From the time of the adjournment of the tariff session some of the men who voted against the Aldrich law have taken steps repeatedly to spread the revolt against the republican party and even have gone to the extent of attacking the president.

"Several of these, it is charged, went so far as to notify the postmasters who publish newspapers that unless they attacked Mr. Taft and his policies they would not be recommended for reappointment. Senator Cummins has announced that he will use his influence in behalf of the independent candidates against the congressmen who voted for the tariff bill.

"The effect of this, in the judgment of the president and his advisers, is to injure the republican party, to weaken its power, and to generally prevent the realization of the policies upon which Mr. Taft has set his heart. These elements have forced the president and his advisers to reach the following conclusions:

"1. There are certain measures upon which the party will stand or fall, and which, therefore, should command the support of all good republicans.

"2. The republican party is committed to these measures by the pledges made in the last campaign, and, in order to ask for a continuance in power, it must enact them into law.

"3. Republicans who fail to realize this paramount duty are guilty of violating the tenets of the party, and consequently do not deserve republican support.

"4. It would be contrary to wise political doctrine to furnish ammunition to such men which would enable them to wax strong, prevent the party from executing its promises, and thereby injure its chances of future success.

"5. The administration will not punish any men for what they did in connection with the tariff law, but it will insist that they give proper support to pending and future legislative recommendations of the president.

"6. The administration in no way will pledge itself to support Senator Aldrich in the senate or Speaker Cannon in the house."

These demands are just and reasonable, and the people will support the president, in whom they have confidence.

GET OUT OF THE RUTS

If there was no other argument in favor of government by commission the simple fact that it would be a move forward is sufficient to commend it to every thoughtful voter.

While Janesville has long been recognized as a delightful city for a home, the people have been content to drift along complacently, while neighboring cities no better endowed have increased in wealth and population by leaps and bounds.

The spirit which objects to a street railway because it would interfere with navigating a load of hay or because the noise would disturb sleep is too largely a prevailing spirit, and the result is a rut which retard progress.

Then, too, the city has long been noted for factional strife, and this has created a rut of bitterness, more difficult to overcome than lethargy or lack of ambition.

There are two things which the city needs today, and which it secured would work to the good of all the people. One is waking up and taking on new ambition with a determination to get out of old-time ruts, however securely they may be cherished.

The other is an old-fashioned campaign getting-together, with a desire to bury hatchets, and all other implements of warfare, for the common good.

The commission form of government will accomplish much along both lines, for it will transform indifference in city government and city affairs, to enthusiasm because of business methods adopted and results shown.

It will also have a tendency to destroy barriers and eliminate factions, because it will be free from politics and political influence. The work of the commission will be out in the open and as a result many petty jealousies will be removed.

Janesville will be honored by being the first city in the state to adopt the new law, and the voters should appreciate the opportunity offered. Fill up the ruts and forget them, and the future will be full of pleasant surprises.

The Red Cross stamp campaign just closed was placed in the hands of the Gazette to manage, and the paper desires to thank everyone who contributed to its success, especially the school children who sold more than 15,000. The house-to-house canvass made by the children reduced the sale at the stores and other places of business, but the state treasury will be enriched to the extent of some $225 or more. The exact amount will be published as soon as returns are all in. This is a work of philanthropy pure and simple, and no one profits by it except the sufferers from tuberculosis.

The "recall" is a harp with a single string, but manipulated with so many variations that it resembles a one-man band. The agitators are consumed with alarm and distrust and have so little confidence in the people that they see visions and dream dreams of bad men from the bad lands, capturing the city and escaping with the loot. Wake up, brothers. Things are not so bad as they seem.

The 40,000 pounds of books and pamphlets, sold for junk at the state-house this week, indicates that the people are paying a lot of money to the state printer, that might be saved. The word economy is seldom considered in a state contract. This lot of old books represents but a part of the waste, for thousands of volumes are sent out and deposited in waste-baskets all over the state.

Did it occur to you that taxes are higher this year than ever before, and value received for much of the money spent is not in sight? Government by commission may not reduce the rate, but it will produce results and cause the taxpayer to feel that he has something to show for his money.

If the commission form of government is adopted there is no intention of running in a trio of experts from the university to take the management of affairs. The three men selected will be responsible citizens, elected by popular vote, and competent to administer the affairs of home government to the satisfaction of the people.

The election next Tuesday is not to elect commissioners nor to nominate them. It is simply a yes or no vote on the question, "Shall Janesville adopt the commission form of government?" Voting machines will be used and the polls will be open from 6 o'clock in the morning until 7 in the evening.

The Chicago switchmen and railway managers, after spending a month in futile efforts to come to an agreement, have wisely decided to submit the question to a federal board of arbitration, under the Bradman act. This will avoid a strike and settle the question, as both sides agree to stand by the decision.

The new management of the street railway company is entitled to a public "Thank you" for keeping the cars in motion during the blockade.

Cherry, Illinois—That date line was a familiar one to readers of the newspapers a few weeks ago and associated in the public mind with alarming stories of the mine disaster.

Along with the world horror of it all—the deaths in the passages by suffocation, by fire, by drowning, by starvation—was the record of the fine, everyday heroism that always comes up in such crises.

Who were these miners? Well, most of them were foreigners or naturalized Americans, and they were rough and uncouth. Perhaps you thought of them as hundreds of poor human rats peeped in the muck of the mine, slung to their death by the fires.

Also—The men who worked at the shaft on top and risked their lives in the mine levels—firemen, miners, workmen—were men rough on the outside of them.

Rough only on the outside? Did you read about these strong but tender hearted men who made rescue dashes, fighting fires, attacking barricades, until they fell exhausted, in order to restore the burned and battered bodies to wives or babes? And of how some of the early volunteers were dead when hoisted?

Or—Did you read the diary of that boy of twenty-one who calmly told the story of each day's suffering in that hell below, closing the last day with a benediction on his sweetheart?

Or—How they found farewell notes in the pockets of the dead, which spoke not of despair, but of that "some sweet day" when they should all meet again?

Or—Did you read of those who stood constant guard over the dying miner and his little "water hole"—a depression in the coal where a few black drops seeped in—themselves perishing of thirst?

What godlikeness in man! You sometimes doubt it? You see the sunny side of things, question men's motives, see only the littleness of humans and lose faith.

Turn the wheel around. You will then see the godlikeness in the commonest man and how it comes out of him at the dire need of his fellow.

Says a popular woman writer, "Don't you just love human beings?"

Poor old seedy Richard Roe! There is aught he doesn't know of the kennel and the street and the hobnob's foul retreat. There is nothing he can't tell of the ante-mortem hell. Drifting on life's stormy wave, Richard he's a wreck, unfit to save; drifting, drifting with the flow, where the shipwrecked mortals go, Richard is a trying sight; once his countenance was white, but it's rusty with the grime of an older, ancient time; and his rage is passing faint, and he has a wallish fowl; and his story's (rite and state, as he pieces in the jail; he's completely out of chink—and it's suddening to think that this old fellow, must have been one day a child! It is suddening to know that above this Richard Roe, with his face by evil seemed, once a mother bent and dreamed; Prayed and dreamed—above that face—that he'd take an honored place, in this great, wide world of men—truly, she was dreaming then! There are many Richard Roes, drifting—whither or no one knows—where life's billows sweep and swing; and it seems a blessed thing that so many mothers die, ere they see the wrecks drift by.

A. B. LEACH.

New York. One of New York's successful business men who failed to follow Horace Greeley's advice, and went west instead of west to A. B. Leach, the son of A. B. Leach & Co., brokers. He is a Michigan man by birth. He knew what it was as a young man to be alone in a great city and how new organized and is president of a most unusual society of which will help many a homesick visitor in New York to a good time.

The organization in the Michigan society of New York.

Concerning the work Mr. Leach, when seen at his office, 119 Broadway, said:

"Some of us whose hearts and thoughts still yearn for the old home, feel that there should be a place here for Michigan men who are in New York to get together occasionally. If there is a Michigan man in New York who has a message, we want to give him a platform where it may be heard. If there is a Michigan man in New York who loves his people and loves to be with them, I believe this society is the best opportunity."

The movement has been taken up by native sons of other states and at no distance date it may be possible every visitor to New York from what ever state he may hail will have provided for him a state headquarters where he will meet old friends and feel perfectly at home.

It is generally believed that Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, chairman of the senate committee on public lands will head the investigation committee. His chairmanship makes him in the opinion of many, the logical senator to head the senate representation on the committee, and in that case, he will undoubtedly be chosen the chairman.

That the investigating committee will have twenty members, six from each house of congress is also the plan outlined at present. The decision to have a joint committee instead of a senate committee under take the inquiry was reached at the White house yesterday.

At first it was thought there should be an odd number on the committee and that the senate would have the preponderance of membership. An equal membership is now regarded as preferable.

Senator Jones will present the inquiry directing resolution January 5. No opposition to its immediate consideration and passage is anticipated. The house will probably adopt a similar resolution the same day.

Present plans are to have the committee appointed by the vice president and the speaker. It is believed the majority of the members will be picked from the committees on public lands of the two houses.

The senate committee is composed of Chairman Nelson, Senators Clark of Wyoming, Noble of South Dakota, Sargent of Utah, Flint of California, Heyburn of Idaho, McNary of Louisiana, Newlands of Nevada, Davenport of Arkansas, Owen of Oklahoma, Bankhead of Alabama and Chamberlain of Oregon.

On the house committee are Chairman Mondell of Wyoming, Representatives Volstead of Minnesota, Smith of California, Gorman of North Dakota, Carson of New York, Fry of Montana, Reynolds of Pennsylvania, Crow of Reynolds of Pennsylvania, Morgan of Missouri, Hatcher of Idaho, Andrews of Oklahoma, Bland of Missouri, Robinson of Arkansas, Foraker of Ohio, Hays of Colorado, Hughes of Georgia and Taylor of Colorado. Of course some members of congress outside of the committee will probably be named.

WAREHOUSE ROOF GAVE WAY TODAY

UNDER THE WEIGHT OF ACCUMULATED SNOW.

GREEN TOBACCO CO'S LOSS

On Large Frame Building at the Corner of Mineral Point Avenue and N. Pearl Street May Total $800.
Under the strain of accumulated snow, the supports of the 122-foot gable roof of the Green Tobacco Co.'s two-story frame warehouse at the corner of Mineral Point Avenue and North Pearl Street gave way shortly before seven o'clock this morning and the entire superstructure sank nearly to the second floor with a succession of groaning, rattling, and splitting noises which awoke the whole neighborhood. The north portion of the west wall was bulged out like the yielding section of an overcrowded postboard box and the three cupolas that crowned the roof, pointing, as they did, in almost every direction but the perpendicular, looked drunken and seasick when curious spectators arrived upon the scene. No damage whatever was done to the rectangular shaped and flat-roofed wing at the north end which had been leased to Willet Decker nor to the office and south and east walls.

Not an Old Building
The structure, which was erected in sections and no portion of which dates back further than 1892, was unusually well built and has been popularly supposed to be exceptionally strong and sound. However, since the new addition to the brick warehouse near the depot was constructed, it had not been used extensively for storage and the contents comprised not more than 150 cases of leaf. Had there been any considerable number of cases on the second floor the loss would doubtless have been a heavy one. As it stands, it will cost less than $1,000 and perhaps not more than $200 to jack the roof up into place again, align the west wall, and install new supports. Few, if any, of the windows are broken. The north-west portion of the roof was the first to settle and the south end which suffered least will require but little readjustment.

Made an Inspection
Upon receiving tidings of the collapse of a roof at the Howard leaf warehouse in Orfordville a few days ago, Howard R. Green, the vice-president of the company, made an inspection of the frame warehouse and was completely reassured upon finding that no unusual quantity of snow had accumulated between the roof and the south wall of the addition on the north end. Nobody was in the building when the collapse occurred this morning.

BONDS FOR SALE.
For sale, a limited number of good bonds, running about six years, which will be sold to net the investor six per cent. Alexander M. Matheson, Jackman block.

An 80% Hatch

of little chicks was taken off today at the

Poultry Show

They can be seen in the brooder during the remainder of the show.

The eggs for this hatch were laid before the 10th and many were three weeks old before they were put in the incubator.

Tuesday they were taken 1/2 mile and put in an incubator at the show room where the temperature is very uneven and then hatched 47 chicks from 61 eggs.

It hatched 80% under these conditions—it will do more under ordinary circumstances.

See it at the Poultry Show or at our store. Write or call for catalog and don't forget that you can get more than your money's worth of knowledge and pleasure by attending this show. Open until Saturday evening until 10 o'clock, 10c and 15c.

The seed corn will be auctioned Saturday evening. Put in your bid any time Saturday if you are unable to attend Saturday evening. Attend tonight or tomorrow.

GREAT AMERICAN AVIATION MEET AT LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Brightest, monoplane, biplane, and triplane, besides a number of other airplanes are entered in America's great aviation meet to be held here January 10 to 20. The world's greatest aviators and their machines are now on hand testing out and getting ready for the opening day next Monday.

Among the list of entries are found such well-known aviators as Latham, the famous French aviator, who has accomplished such wonders at the French aviation meet; Glen H. Curtiss, a representative of the Wright brothers, and the boy aviator, Klemm. There are at least two new models entered which have never been seen in an aviation meet previously. They are the Williams monoplane, recently tried out with great success in New York, which has many unique features. Another model is the triplane of J. P. Scott, near Lawrenceburg, Ind. This latter machine is the first triplane ever successfully operated in America and will probably become the property of the United States government, as J. P. Scott is one of the three to whom contracts were awarded for airplanes when the United States government asked for bids last February. The machine is about 25 feet long and 25 feet wide and weighs nearly 500 pounds. It is propelled by a big screw two-blade fan driven by a 30-horse-power gas engine.

INSPECTORS AND ELECTION CLERKS

Those Who Were Appointed Last Spring Will Officiate at the Various Polling Places on Tuesday. Those who were appointed last spring to officiate at the polling places will be expected to be on duty at the election booths next Tuesday. At the spring election there were several substitutions but the original appointees did not lose, thereby, their rights to act as inspectors, and clerks at this time, if they see fit so to do. The ballot clerks, of course, will not be needed. In cases where there are vacancies at the time the polls are opened electors on hand will name the parties who are to fill them. As near as can be ascertained at this time the following will be in charge at the various voting places:

First Ward—Inspectors: Charles H. Miller, chairman, J. P. Baker, and G. H. Dwyer; clerks: H. W. McNamara and T. D. Dowling.

Second Ward—Inspectors: S. C. Burnham, chairman, F. F. Pierson, and Charles T. Connell; clerks: F. H. Snyder and Ernest Gleason.

Third Ward—Inspectors: H. J. Cunningham, chairman, George Davis, and a democrat to be named election day; clerks: Stanley Woodruff and George H. Smith.

Fourth Ward—Inspectors: W. E. Spicer, chairman, Michael McEligue, and Charles E. Curtis (or Clarence Hemmens who took his place last spring); clerks: Adolph Knudson and someone to succeed W. J. Bauman who declines to serve this year.

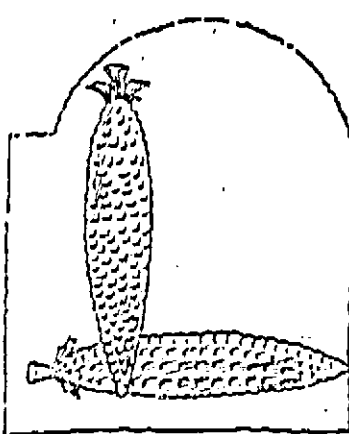

Fifth Ward—Inspectors: George T. Croft, chairman, J. A. Sutherland, and James Clough; clerks: Thomas Whelan, and Fred O'Donnell or Frank Sutherland or Frank Joyen.

SUB ZERO WEATHER IS ALL THE VOGUE

Milton Reports 33 Below and the Average Janesville Thermometers Went from 20 to 31 Below.

Janesville woke to another sub-zero morning. The thermometers in different portions of the city ranged all the way from twenty to thirty-one degrees below zero while a government-tested instrument at Milton went thirty-three below during the night. At eight o'clock the J. P. Sawyer City bank thermometer showed fifteen below, the Hotel Landon instrument 12 below, and 25 below was reported from North Main street, and 20 below on Milton avenue. One instrument on South Jackson street showed 31 below. The average of the thermometers along Milwaukee street showed a range of from 14 to 24 below at seven-thirty. No matter which of the lot of instruments that tell how cold it is, the average pedestrian can vouch for the fact that almost every third man met this morning had a frozen nose or ear early today, and that is cold enough.

TWO OLD UMPIRES WILL BENEFIT FROM BACKBONE OF NEW NATIONAL PRESIDENT

New York—Some very important baseball legislation dealing with the question of umpires will be put through at the next session of the National league in February. President Tom Lynch has decided that the umpire end of the game needs overhauling, and he's going to do the overhauling. Heretofore attention has centered on the doings of the players. The judges of play have received little consideration no one deeming them and their work important enough to take up the time of the magnates in season. The umpires are to be the big police the coming season for the National president will back them to the hilt. Lynch's idea is to find out just where the game can be improved from an umpire's standpoint, and then ask the magnates to enact baseball laws covering one or more suggestions on reforms that he will make, in this manner Lynch hopes to lessen the protests of umpires' rulings, which were so common last season. With the reforms that Lynch has in mind in effect, the umpire will know just where he stands and how far he can go. It will be a case of the umpires running the game, and not the magnates. The Hurst is naturally pleased at the election of Tom Lynch as National league president. "All they need now," says Tim, "is to elect another umpire as vice president of the league."

Tim and Lynch worked together for years and they ought to know each other well. This says Lynch, will have all the magnates calling him Mr. Lynch in short order, and he'll be president with a capital P. Tim tells a story of Lynch that shows the honesty of the man. "Years ago," says Hurst, "Lynch, Bob Emalle and I combined to strike for more money. Uncle Nick Young, then boss of the National league, turned down all our requests. He would hand out the argument that he couldn't raise our salaries because this club had lost money, and so had that one. Well, we threatened to hold out even after the season opened. "One day Lynch received a letter from Uncle Nick telling him that his salary would be raised $150, but not to say anything to Emalle or me. Here's where Lynch's character came to the surface. Instead of putting the letter under his belt he promptly mailed it to me. In the course of a few days I got a similar letter from President Young, and before the season opened we all got our advance."

PULL OUT A HAIR

The Way to Tell Whether or Not Your Hair Is Diseased

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair, you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. Ninety-eight per cent of the people need a hair tonic. You can make a test yourself that will tell you and understand, which will tell you whether your hair is healthy or not. Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased and requires prompt treatment. If its loss would be avoided, if the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try our Rexall "33" Hair Tonic. We promise that it will not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and eradicate baldness.

Out of 100 cases where it was given a thorough, conscientious test, it gives hair on 93 heads, which should be sufficient proof that Rexall "33" Hair Tonic contains extraordinary medicinal and hair-growing qualities. It is because of our knowledge of this preparation and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk.

Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is a clean, clear preparation which does not grease, gum or thicken the hair, and it has a very pleasant odor. We have it in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. ## WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THIS is a little talk on unnecessary enemies. Have you any of that kind?

Maybe you thought that all enemies were alike.

But they aren't, by any means.

Enemies should be divided into two classes—necessary enemies, of which we have reason to be proud, and unnecessary enemies, of which we ought to be thoroughly ashamed.

I heard some one the other day reproaching a girl for saying a thoughtless thing that made an enemy for her.

"I wouldn't think much of anyone who went through life without making enemies," she retorted. "I think it would show that he hadn't much character. The greatest people, the men who have been in advance of their times, have always had the most enemies."

Quite true, but not at all a justification for her.

For though to be great is to have enemies, to have many enemies is not necessarily a sign of greatness.

People are often apt to confuse the incidents of greatness with its inherent signs in this way. For instance, I have even known people who were proud of their bad handwriting because so many geniuses have been poor penmen.

Emerson says:

"Is it so bad, then, to be misunderstood? Pythagoras was misunderstood, and Socrates and Jesus, and Luther, and Copernicus and Galileo, and Newton, and every pure and wise spirit that ever took flesh. To be great is to be misunderstood."

But he did not mean, as so many impatient young people are apt to think that he did not mean, to be great.

The man who makes an enemy because he stands for some belief, some principle, some reform, has a right to be proud of that enemy, to regard him as one of the highest honors he has won.

The man who makes an enemy by reason of his enviously attained success or his well-earned position, has a right to pity that enemy as a foolish captor, self-deluded to the chariot wheels of envy.

But the man who makes an enemy because of some unkind or thoughtless word, some neglected courtesy, some spiteful act, some misunderstanding, allowed to widen into a breach, should be thoroughly ashamed and thoroughly happy until he has managed somehow to undo his work.

"The man who hath a thousand friends

Hath not a friend to spare;

And he who hath one enemy

Shall meet him everywhere."

and if that one is a necessary enemy, then he shall have reason to be more proud every time he meets him than he is of the thousand friendships.

But if that one is an enemy made through carelessness or selfishness, then he shall have reason to be at odds with himself and discontented with the thousand friends until he has made them a thousand and one by winning over the enemy.

Fads and Fashions

New York, January 8.—Black velvet is all the rage in Paris and the influence of this craze is making itself felt here in no small measure. On Fifth Avenue, when the weather is fair, many numbers of handsome black velvet costumes may be seen and in all places where fashionably dressed women congregate, black velvet forms the keynote of many of the handsomest costumes. Velvet and mouseline, velvet and chiffon, velvet and lace and velvet and tulle are all combinations in the height of the mode and exquisite effects are obtained with them. Sometimes the sheer stuff is used only in the bodice, skirt and coat, leaving entirely of velvet, but more elaborate models show splendor of the soft material or a full skirt of mouseline under a velvet tunic, or perhaps a skirt of velvet and a bodice of mouseline. The upper part of the skirt is of the thinner material. There is really no end to the ways in which these combinations are handled by the designers, and when the costume is intended for daytime wear there is usually a contrasting coat of the velvet, though one of the popular long fur coats may be worn instead.

Even the very handsome visiting costumes in velvet are likely to be made with a short skirt, and very frequently a band of fur borders the bottom of the skirt, though this is by no means imperative. Often the band of fur accents upon the long coat and the bottom of the frock is plain. Rich embroideries and lace are used upon velvet costumes of a distinctly dressy character and for adds a further note of luxury to many of the handsomest models. Hand beading, embroidered motifs of satin cord, folds of satin, etc., are also used for trimming purposes. Black does not, of course, have things all its own way in the province of the velvet street costume. All of the very dark colors which have enjoyed a vogue this winter are well represented, crow's wing blue, and various other dark blues, the intensely dark green and a certain rich but almost black purple are all having their share of popularity. There are lighter colorings, too, some good dull blues which are most charming with chinchilla and silver or with dark fur and gold, an occasional rose tone not too light, several admirable grays and gray browns and a few of the modish greens.

Evening gowns in black are brightened by some two of these, but the black evening frock has always been more or less popular, and it is in the afternoon costume that the vogue of black is especially impressive. In colors for evening wear there is such variety that it would be difficult to pick out the dominating tone, and there is much white and silver and white with gold. The very pale pinks and some of the rose tones are well liked and several of the yellows, particularly a certain gold tone, have achieved considerable popularity.

For decorative purposes splashes are much used, though the more delicate effects of dappled, bugle tracery, etc., are more modish than the scale-armored effect. When bold masses of facts are employed now they are worked out as embroidery designs instead of assuming the coat of mail or fish-scale of former days.

Among the afternoon frocks designed for indoor wear, silk voile models, with short sleeves and without collars, seem to be having a popularity in both England and France, which promises an early adoption of this comfortable style over here. The lines of a princess robe are used and the bodice is filled in with a tucked net chemise, and underdresses to match extend to the waist. These lace accessories insure a renewal and afford a constant freshness at the neck and wrists.

Very attractive gowns are made of white crepe de chine printed with various colors in a line that forms a Paisley border. Frequently this border is used for the sleeves and bodice, and the skirt is made of the plain color. Soft folds can be used to advantage, and a draped princess effect is also becoming. Of course, for women who must consider the cleaner bill, these little house frocks are made of soft shades with borders which blend with the general tone. Simplicity is the keynote, and the softer offered by this factor makes these dresses particularly adapted for comfortable and modish wear in the home.

The ultra-short winter cloths which the tailors display at present in an attractive variety of soft colorings, are much like the well remembered double-faced stuff of which women used to fashion their abbreviated bicycle skirts. These cloths, while delightful in warm and cool, are really not at all heavy, because they are almost entirely wool, and their texture is soft and pleasant to the touch. They come in neutral colorings of brown, blue-gray, and slate-gray, and the reverse side of the material shows bold plaids and checks of the colors employed in the neutral shades. Most satisfactory and usually most becoming are the wooly brown winter cloths, with glens of russet and red in the plaid weave.

is this little perfect oyster-cracker. A heaping full package for only five cents.

These brownish effects harmonize well with the brown tints of cheaper grades used for automobile.

For instance, wear nothing cut equal sleek just now in Paris favor. Seal coats trimmed with huge collars of skunk are at the very height of fashion, and these rich coats are so beautifully shaped that they seem to give the wearer sleekness rather than bulk. They fall to the skirt hem and fasten low at the left hip under a big eel ornament or jeweled button, and from this low fastening the long revers slope up into the huge shawl collar or skunk fur. To bolster the coat there is usually a touch of the skunk fur, light and soft, for all its huge size, so soft in fact that it may be crushed in the hand or beneath the arm like a bit of fabric.

The woman who wants a motor coat that will represent sheer expense, style and fashion being a secondary consideration, may choose skunk with a border pattern of the matched and altered skins. Such a coat will easily cost four figures, and for one of chinchilla or sable five figures may be expended. But these plutocratic garments will be not a whit more attractive or chic than the coat of seal bordered with skunk.

The Angora jacket is the warmest, lightest garment ever devised for wear beneath the fur coat on especially cold winter motor trips. These Angora jackets are much liked by hunters and other men, who use them for their warmth under ordinary short coats. These jackets, however, are by no means cheap and their price makes them prohibitive for a great many women. Models of the same material as the jackets are also used a great deal.

A smart hat for theatre wear is an immense turban of champagne colored tulle, spangled with gold. A white algrette arranged at the back is the new touch. Large flat velvet hats are extremely chic when rolled up in front and back with no other trimming besides a jeweled ornament or large hatpins.

One of the favorite models of a prominent milliner is a chamois colored felt lined with black velvet and trimmed with fur around the crown. Flat soft shapes rolled at the side to conform to a line most becoming to the wearer, are trimmed with a scarf of fur or a tiny bow of sable or ermine.

Power fur turbans are worn as the season advances. When worn, however, chinchilla seems to be the most popular. Buckles made of gold and silver and not only short, but are far less expensive than many other articles of hat adornment. These are not difficult to make and a little ingenuity on the part of the needlewoman will result in a pretty buckle.

THE PERFECT FRIEND.

By MARY RUSSELL.

When a great genius comes from the country we can nearly always trace his desire for knowledge and an understanding of himself to the influence of some other mind. A mother—a friend—a force to give him the right impulse.

Women are the inspiration of almost all men. Mothers, great mothers, are the greatest of all influences. Women have a capacity for self-inspiration that men seldom realize. A mother will send her son to achieve greatness by the certain knowledge of things in her heart that the very achievement will build a barrier between that son and herself.

A sex-theory will give her power to the world at the expense of her own happiness. The woman who understands will destroy her very soul that the man may sit in high places.

The perfect friendship is that between a man and woman. It is only possible where a woman has the power to meet a man on his own ground, for a man lacks adaptability and fluidity and paths not his own would smother and beset with stumbling blocks. Men who are strong enough to admit and seek the influence of good women are the men who make great records. They are the ones that temper their judgment with mercy and take many-sided views of every question.

The average outlook of men is bounded on the north by self-esteem, on the south by selfish desire, on the east by self-gain and on the west by self-worship.

It is the almost inevitable result of the business struggle with the world to make for selfishness. The greatest harmonies in music are not worked out with a single note, it is the great chords that stir the heart strings. Even the great discordance makes a greater music than the single note. So is it with life. The great harmonies of life are worked out by souls that are in tune with each other.

Seek friends, for a pure and perfect friendship is greater and purer than a great love.

It is only when a man knows his own friendship that the selfish his powers are broken down. Love, as it is understood, often makes for selfishness, but friendship sets aside the desire and creates a feeling of brotherhood for all mankind.

MAKE STOMACH TROUBLES VANISH BY TAKING A LITTLE DIAEPSIN

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn,

Headache and other distress will go in five minutes.

If you had some Diaepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or you have a lump of food in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Diaepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching.

Only Loved Hands Pick "Sunkist" Oranges

We use great care in picking the famous "SUNKIST" ORANGES. Each "SUNKIST" ORANGE is picked from the tree and packed in the box by a gloved hand. No orange that falls to the ground is packed under the "SUNKIST" label.

"Sunkist" Navel Oranges Are Seedless. We grow 60% of all the California oranges. Three-fourths of all the lemons. Most of them are sold in bulk, but the choicest selections of this great quantity are wrapped in the "SUNKIST" label, so that if you would be sure that you get the choicest pick, insist upon the "SUNKIST."

Beautiful Orange Spoon FREE. Some thinkers may claim that the oranges they sell are the famous "SUNKIST," but that they have removed the wrapper. Insist on your dealer giving you oranges and lemons in the "SUNKIST" wrapper. If you do this we will give you a beautiful orange spoon—one of Rogers' best standard AA quality. Just send us twelve "SUNKIST" oranges or lemon wrappers, with six 2c stamps to pay postage, packing, etc., and receive one of these beautiful spoons by return mail.

The choicest quality of lemons also go under the "SUNKIST" label. You can easily secure a whole dozen of these beautiful orange spoons. Get a dozen "SUNKIST" oranges or lemons today.

Smart Lingerie Blouse.

The very low front closing of the new coats is pretty filled by the Duffy lace and trim of the up-to-date neckwear. If not a part of the bodice these jackets are worn separately, no coat suit being smart without them.

The bodice shown here is trimmed with one of these fully edged with lace. The blouse itself is plain, made of lustrous black tulle in groups of five, with a single strip of lace on either side of the central group. This insertion, which is lacy, is used to decorate the otherwise plain sleeve and the collar. Crochet buttons trim the front.

The Federal Constitution.

It is a fact that there was a tremendous and most bitter opposition to the adoption of the present Federal Constitution, both among the members of the various constitutional conventions and in the federal convention. Men like Sam Adams, Patrick Henry, Richard Henry Lee, Yates and Lansing, Luther Martin, George Mason and Thomas Starbuck, with many others were from start to finish bitterly opposed to the ratification of the Constitution. When the first vote was taken it was New York, for instance, voting 20 for ratification and 27 against ratification. Virginia voted 89 for, 77 against, Massachusetts 187 for, 168 against.

may not investigate an increase in rates until after it shall become effective; although one or more carriers may petition the court to suspend the increase in rates or change in classifications, or other alteration of the existing rates or classifications, to become effective at the expiration of 30 days from the date of the ruling of the court. It is further held that the respondents are to be taken to investigate the reasonableness of such proposed change until after it becomes operative. On the other hand, if the commission shall make an order and the carrier shall believe it excessive and directed to be reduced, the carrier is directed by proceedings in the courts, may suspend operation of such order of reduction for 30 days, and then petition the court for a reduction. It is further suggested that the commission should be empowered whenever proposed increase in rates is filed, once to enter upon an investigation of the reasonableness of such increase, and to make an order postponing the effective date of such increase until a par value, then not without such approval of the reasonable members of such funds or obligations as are created by the Interstate Commerce Commission; and that no property, service or other thing than money, shall be taken in payment to such funds or obligations, or for other obligations of such stock, bond or other obligation, except the fair value of such property, services or other thing according to the commission; and that such funds shall use some provision to prevent the use of the property or services or the use of notes maturing at a period not exceeding 12 months from date, in such manner as to commit the company to the approval of the commission of such stock or bonds in order to retire any notes that would legitimately have to be retired.

Such act should also provide for the approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the issuance of such stock and bonds by any railroad company without to this act upon any railroad.

Law to Suppress Abuses.
The object of the anti-trust law to suppress the abuses of business of kind described. It was not to inter-

of boarding, and produce a halt in present prosperity that will cause a panic and strained circumstances. (Continued on page 11.)

The law is a good law, and if defects develop after being tested they can be remedied. A man of straw is never dangerous, and it never pays to be frightened at this kind of an apparition. A vote for the commission means better government and a wholesome administration.

BIG MERGE IS NOW PLANNED

HOLDING COMPANY FOR YOKUM AND HAWLEY ROADS CONTEMPLATED.

VANDERLIP FINANCES DEAL

Theodore D. Shonts, Who Is Interested In Several of Lines, Is Said to Be Head of Gigantic Holding Company.

New York, Jan. 7.—A dispatch from Port Worth, Tex., amplifies the report current in Wall street that Edwin Hawley, H. F. Yokum and other financiers are to form a holding company for the Hawley and Yokum roads.

According to this dispatch, Mr. Hawley, Mr. Yokum, Theodore D. Shonts, Frank A. Vanderlip, Frank Trumbull and Henry S. Black, all of whom are to accompany Hawley in an inspection of the Hawley properties, are interested in this gigantic undertaking.

Shonts to Head Company.

Mr. Vanderlip, who is president of the National City bank, was named to finance the deal, and Mr. Shonts was said to have been selected to head the holding company. It was also reported that the Hawley and Yokum roads would both spend $10,000,000 this year improving their lines in the southwest.

The roads to be merged, according to the report, are the Chicago & Alton, the Toledo, St. Louis & Western, the Minneapolis & St. Louis, and the Iowa Central, all Hawley roads, of which Shonts is president; the Chesapeake & Ohio, another Hawley line, and the St. Louis & San Francisco, and Missouri, Kansas & Texas, which Yokum controls and in which Shonts has been said to be interested.

WILL LIKELY FIGHT ON COAST.

Jeffries—Johnson Battle Is Almost Certain for San Francisco.

New York, Jan. 7.—It is almost certain now that the heavy-weight championship fight between Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson will be decided in San Francisco on the afternoon of July 4.

Jack Johnson, who was associated with "Tex" Rickard in being awarded the contest, has been working hard to get the incoming board of supervisors of San Francisco to grant him a special permit to hold the fight at his baseball park.

According to a quiet tip which reached here from the coast, Johnson has been successful in getting the supervisors to decide unanimously to allow the fight to take place and to go the 15 rounds, as called for in the articles of agreement.

HANDS POLICE $10,000; FALLS.

Last Act of Man Poisoned by Coal Gas Is to Save His Wealth.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 7.—Here, take this," gasped Thomas Clarke, a letter carrier, as a policeman burst into the dining room occupied by Clarke and his brother John.

After landing Policeman Ferdinandus a bundle Clarke sank into unconsciousness. At the station house the bundle was found to contain $10,180 in small bills. The Clarke brothers lived at 78 Daggett street and a light burning in their room for the last two days aroused the suspicions of neighbors. Policeman Ferdinandus burst in the door and found the brothers in bed, almost dead from coal gas poisoning.

DR. W. H. ROBERTS IS ATTACKED.

Presbyterian Official Organ Calls for Treasurer's Resignation.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 7.—The Presbyterian banner, the official organ of the Presbyterian church of North America, makes a bitter editorial attack on Rev. Dr. William H. Roberts of Philadelphia, general treasurer of the Presbyterian general assembly, and demanding his resignation.

The paper alleges that matters are not being conducted in a business way and that in addition to being treasurer, Dr. Roberts holds almost sixty other positions in the Presbyterian church, many of which pay good salaries.

TRACTION CASE IS UP AGAIN

SUIT FOR $2,797,200 REVIEWED AFTER TWO YEARS' SLUMBER.

CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED

Case Against Thomas F. Ryan and Others by Former New York City Railway Receivers Will Be Heard Monday.

New York, Jan. 7.—The suit inaugurated by Adrian H. Joliffe and Douglas Robinson, former receivers for the New York City Railway Company, against Thomas F. Ryan and other directors of that corporation to collect $2,797,200, is about to be called in the United States court.

After slumbering for two years in the pigeon holes in the office of the clerk of the courts this case—which charges conspiracy against some of the best-known street railway millionaires in the country—will be brought to the light of day on Monday before Judge Ray.

Millionaires Are Defendants.

The directors named, besides Mr. Ryan, are Mortimer L. Schiff, son of Jacob H. Schiff; Peter A. B. Widener, millionaire of Philadelphia; John D. Crummin, the wealthiest contractor in New York; Edward J. Herward, the great coal operator; Thomas P. Fowler, the railroad president; Paul D. Cravath, counsel for all the Ryan interests; Herbert H. Vreeland, former president of the Metropolitan system; Thomas Doan, millionaire of Philadelphia; and E. W. Sayre, an official of the Metropolitan Street Railway system.

The names here mentioned contain those of the men who paid back to the company more than $700,000 for the Wall and Cortlandt street ferries deal. In some respects this case is similar.

Plaintiff Charges Conspiracy.

The charge made by the plaintiff is that of conspiracy, wherein it is claimed that in February, 1902, the defendants, under the guise of financing the payment of $23,000,000 by the New York City Railway Company to the Metropolitan Securities Company paid over to themselves as directors of the Metropolitan Securities Company and to that company, large sums aggregating $2,797,200, and that this amount was taken from the capital without the receipt by the company of any consideration whatever.

PROMINENT MEN ARE INJURED.

Senator Perkins and Huntington Wilson Fall on Ice Sidewalk.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Two men prominent in Washington—Huntington Wilson and Senator Perkins of California—slipped on icy sidewalks and were injured severely. Senator Perkins was carried to his apartment, where he was given prompt medical attention.

Huntington Wilson, assistant secretary of state, fell on the pavement as he stepped from his automobile and cut his face so badly that he was taken to his home and is under a physician's care. The secretary has not been in the best health lately and the effects of the shock are feared.

New York, Jan. 7.—New York hospitals are filled with accident cases because of icy streets. The sleet-storm covered everything with a treacherous coating of thin ice and caused greater peril to limb, if not to life, than any other storm in recent years.

According to police estimates more than 700 persons were injured by falling. The ice forced all vehicles except automobiles from the streets, caused the abandonment of mail schedules by the postoffice department, blocked elevated and surface traffic and played havoc with shipping on the rivers and in the bay.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 7.—The blitzard along the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie railroad has resulted in seven deaths.

MISSISSIPPI FROZEN OVER.

DERIDES "HOOKWORM CONGRESS."

That's One Thing Missouri's Governor Won't Name Delegates To.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 7.—Missouri will not be represented at the national hookworm convention, called to assemble at Atlanta, Ga., January 18, at least not so far as Gov. Hadley is concerned. He is inclined to ridicule the purposes of Mr. Rockefeller's convention and said he had not been requested to appoint delegates to the gathering and that he would not do so. He said he has appointed delegates to national conventions representing almost everything else under the sun, but he would draw the line on hookworm meetings.

WOMEN FILE A VOTE PETITION.

Take Legal Steps in Oklahoma to Put Question on the Ballot.

TWELVE ARE CHARGED WITH STEALING ORE

Believed Prisoners Stole $3,000,000 Worth of Silver from Canadian Mines.

Washington, Jan. 7.—A delegation of officials of the American Federation of Labor, headed by Samuel Gompers, made a personal demand on President Taft that he direct an immediate federal investigation of the United States Steel corporation.

President Taft informed the labor leaders that he would take the matter up with Mr. Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, and Commissioner of Labor Nell.

"You can say that we are highly pleased with our talk with the president," declared Mr. Gompers later.

It is said the administration's answer will be the publication of the report of the commissioner of corporations of an investigation of the steel trust which has been in progress for five years.

Mr. Marlatt declared the bank's loans to the publishing house were above $1,000,000. The bank's capital is $150,000, its surplus $50,000, and it was established in 1871. U. G. Walker, president, is a director of the Werner company. It is declared the solvency of the bank depends entirely on that of the Werner concern.
